

SUSTAINABILITY AND ENVIRONMENTAL POLICY

The mission of the Formula 1 rights holder (hereinafter: FOM) in its sustainability strategy is for the Formula 1 racing series (hereinafter: F1) to achieve net zero carbon emissions by 2030, and for all F1 Grand Prix events to become sustainable and comply with environmental expectations by 2025. Achieving this mission requires the active support and cooperation of everyone involved in F1.

HUNGARORING Sport Zrt. (hereinafter: HUNGARORING), in line with its responsibility towards future generations, is committed to meet the goals set out in the sustainability strategy of FOM and the International Automobile Federation (FIA).

In order to achieve these goals, HUNGARORING provides the resources necessary to establish an effective management system that understands and fully complies with the principles of sustainability, and, in particular, environmental protection.

Taking into account the sustainability strategies of the FOM and FIA, as well as the applicable international and Hungarian legislation, HUNGARORING defines and formulates the requirements derived from sustainability, in particular environmental protection objectives, which it expects to be complied with and which it intends to enforce fully with all parties involved.

HUNGARORING sets measurable goals in order to fulfill the sustainability strategy outlined by FOM and FIA. These goals are designed to control the impact of environmental factors and eliminate the possibility of environmental pollution. In order to achieve these measurable goals, HUNGARORING formulates a sustainability and environmental protection plan, as well as programs for implementation, and communicates these to the parties concerned.

In order to achieve its sustainability goals, HUNGARORING defines the indicators to be used in its sustainability and environment-focused management system, which are intended to support the ESG.

The six pillars of HUNGARORING's sustainability policy until 2030 are: participant travel to events; plastic and other waste; energy; carbon neutrality; local communities; well-being and nature.

HUNGARORING's management expects an understanding of the principles set out in its sustainability and environmental policy and, at the same time, full compliance with the documents used in the management system.
